

G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey (a veteran BPF playwright) will receive its world premiere in Baltimore but has already been selected as the top prize winner of the National Towngate Award offered by the Ogelbay Institute of Wheeling, West Virginia and has also been selected as a finalist in Futurefest, a Dayton Playhouse new play event in Ohio! The G in G-man stands for Garbage (not a spoiler) and Ms. Toohey suggests that while garbage collection is not high on the list of prestigious career listings, what would we do without them? Directed by veteran Miriam Bazensky (founder of Uncommon Voices, a theatre company that ONLY does plays within the Baltimore Playwrights Festival), G-Man focuses on Larry, the garbageman, happy with his life and content until he finds something disturbing . . . . Larry is going through a lot of family strains (as he has throughout his life), but proudly proclaims: "I'm in environmental relocation." Bazensky comments: "It's an important play about endless possibilities!"

G-Man: 410.318.8895 or mirdrama@yahoo.com

At Fells Point Corner Theatre, 251 S. Ann Street, Baltimore, MD 21231, upstairs

July 23 - August 9; Thursday - Saturday at 8 pm; Sunday at 7 pm (discussion 2nd Sunday after play)

Tickets: $15 / $13 Seniors & Students; Thursday, pay as you can.

-----

High resolution versions of all these photos are available at <http://www.baltimoreplaywrightsfestival.org/28-plays/gman.htm>

Contact information for the press:

G-Man:

Playwright - Rosemary Frisino Toohey -- wtoohey@hotmail.com 410-821-1907

Director - Miriam Bazensky -- mirdrama@yahoo.com 443-756-2762

Producer - Miriam Bazensky -- same

Production photographs follow.

Mom (Dickens Warfield) comments to Larry (Mike Ware), "It's the ones that take the time opening that turn out to be the best of the bunch" in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.

The Girl (Kara Turner) asks Larry (Mike Ware) "Do you like games?" in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.

Pete (Saul Clark-Braverman) tells Larry (Mike Ware) "If you don't like it, there's the door!" in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.

Larry (Mike Ware) tells his sister Diane (Jennifer Skarzinski) "You're my sister, Di. I'm not making judgments. Do what you want," in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.

Judy (Kara Turner) asks Larry (Mike Ware) "Can I make you some eggs?" in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.

Mrs. Johnson (Jodie Phillips) is scolded by Larry (Mike Ware) "Look, Mom used to have a sweater -- now she doesn't and she's cold" in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.

Mom (Dickens Warfield) complains "We're old and we have to eat old food." in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.

Mrs. Johnson (Jodie Phillips) moans to Larry (Mike Ware) "But a person's life ought to matter to somebody somewhere" in G-Man by Rosemary Frisino Toohey and directed by Miriam Bazensky. The play, about a garbage man who likes his life "just fine" until he finds more than refuse in a trashbag, is part of the Baltimore Playwrights Festival XXVIII (2009) and will be produced by Uncommon Voices at Fells Point Corner Theatre (251 S. Ann Street) from July 23 through August 9. For more information and tickets call 410-318-8895 or email mirdrama@yahoo.com. Photo by Ken Stanek.